Bachelor of Arts in Biblical Studies

The general and youth and family ministry tracks in Biblical Studies are designed to provide students with the knowledge and skills necessary for various types of ministry or continued academic study of the Bible at the graduate level. These tracks are for students who are interested in serving God in pulpit ministry, youth ministry, missions or other types of ministry. The broad-based foundation of both tracks prepares students to minister in faithful ways to help others draw closer to God.

(Adult Undergraduate)

Master of Arts in Family Life Ministry

The MA in Family Life Ministry prepares graduates to work in church settings to help promote healthy interpersonal relationships and to strengthen marriage and family life. This degree is distinctive in that it integrates prevention-oriented models from the field of ministry studies and the discipline of family studies with intervention strategies employed in the field of counseling to equip students to effectively serve as family life ministers or family professionals in church and community settings.

Master of Arts in Biblical Studies

The MA in Biblical Studies prepares graduates for church ministry or further academic studies, particularly doctoral work in biblical studies. The Bible provides the revelation of God to human beings. This degree provides students with tools to better understand the Bible and communicate its message effectively to others. Whether a student is interested in deeper personal study or growing in ministry, the program equips students for these pursuits.

Master of Theology

The Master of Theology is for students who need further work in academic biblical studies to prepare for a doctoral program. This degree is for those individuals who are interested in pursuing academic biblical studies but have received a first master's in another field. It is for the student who wants to develop skills in the biblical text and its original languages either as a step towards a doctorate or for further pursuit of advanced levels of academic work.
